Objectives of the course:

The primary aims of tort law are to provide relief to injured parties for harms caused by others, to impose liability on parties responsible for the harm, and to deter others from committing harmful acts. Typically, a party seeking redress through tort law will ask for damages in the form of monetary compensation. Tort Law varies from criminal law where the objective is to convict an offender for criminal wrongdoings and focuses on civil remedies where a claimant seeks compensation for their loss or harm. The objective of this paper is to provide broad understanding of basic concepts of relief provided to the injured parties.
