

SARDAR PATEL UNIVERSITY
Programme: B.Sc (Home Science)
Semester: I
Syllabus with effect from: June-2011

Objectives:

- To impart knowledge on the elements & principles of dress design.
- To gain knowledge of the Indian readymade garment industry.
- To make students understand & identify the khadi, handloom, power loom & mill made textiles.
- To develop basic skills in clothing construction & its adornment.

Theory

Paper Code: UH01CTCL07	Total Credit: 2
Title Of Paper: Introduction to Clothing

Unit	Description in detail	Weighting (%)
I	Importance and scopes of study of Textiles and Clothing Terminologies of clothing i.e. Clothing, Brand name, Trade mark, Textile, loom	15%
II	Elements of dress design – Line, Colour, Silhouette, Texture Principles of dress design- Harmony, Balance, Proportion, Rhythm, And Emphasis.	20%
III	An overview of khadi, Handloom & Power loom Textiles – Table loom, Pit loom, Jacquard loom Mill made textiles made by water jet loom, air jet loom, and projectile loom, rapier loom, Circular loom & shuttle loom	15%
IV	Factors affecting selection of fabrics for children and adolescent Age, occasion, Budget Season, occupation, Figure, fashion	15%
V	Readymade garment industry of India. Leading international ready made garment industry, its products & trade names.	25%

Basic Text & Reference Books

- Tate and Glisson, (1961) : Family Clothing
- Wingate I.B. (1976) : Textile Fabrics and Their Selection, Prentice Hall Inc, New Jersey
- Alexander, R.R (1977) Textile Products, Selection, Use & Care Houghton Mifflin Co. Boston
- Pandit Savitri & Tarpley Elezabeth(1972) Grooming Selection & Care of Clothes,Unity Printers Baroda
- Wingate I.B. (1988) : Dictionary of Textiles Universal Pub. Corporation Bombay.
- Hess Katharine : Textiles Fibers And Their Use, Oxford of IBH Bombay
- Magazines related to Textiles and Clothing – Apparel, Cloths line, Cloth Market, The Indian Textile Journal Textile Designing; 2007 K. Parvathi; Avishkar Publishers, Jaipur
- Fabric Structure & Design; 2009 N. Gokaneshan; New Age International (P) Ltd. New Delhi.

