Gandhiji's greatest strength was his belief in God. He fought for the freedom of India because he used to say that the best way to serve the God was to serve His people and therefore when he worked for the happiness of the Indians, he was also making God happy. Many times, people would put a direct question to him, asking him to prove that there is a God and how can we know Him? Gandhiji would admit frankly that he could not show God to anybody because, His presence could be felt in the heart only. He was, however, a lover of God and could not live without Him. He once said, "If you do not give me air and water, I can still live but if you take away my belief in God, I shall die immediately".
