In this world, where the struggle for existence seems to be the rule of life. Friendship is a greet boon to mankind. Friends help us greatly in this struggle. Our friends not only help us in our struggle for existence, they also share our sorrows with us and make the burden of troubles lighter. Even a touch or a look of sympathy from a friend will give us great comfort. Not only this, friends increase our joy too. No success in life can really be enjoyed unless you have a good friend to share the pleasure with you. Life would be barren without blessings of friendship.
