Good leadership is one of the very important factors for success. Gone are the days when the boss was automatically the leader, and the cardinal rules while dealing with the boss were: Rule No.1 The Boss is always right. Rule No.2: If the Boss is wrong, refer to Rule No. 1!

I have found times without number, when good leadership has made all the difference. Loss making units have been turned into profit spinners by a mere change of leadership.

I have tried to analyse what goes into the making of a good leader. Why do some men become good leaders? Here again, there are several qualities and several routes to attain excellence in leadership. Some people attain leadership through financial management, some through good management of labour and good human relations. Again, some attain leadership through marketing. Lee Iaccocca is a fine example. Some go through the route of administrative controls and some, through quality controls and technical management of production. Like the Chairman of Honda.

So, there are several routes that people take to leadership, but there is one thing common in all these, and that is, hard work and commitment. There is no substitute for hard work and commitment.
