PEER REVIEW PROCESS

1. The editors check the papers for their suitability for publication in terms of their relevance to the journal.
2. The received papers shall be put through software for plagiarism test.
3. If a submitted paper was found to have Similarity Index of 30% and above, the paper will be summarily rejected. If it was less than 30%, it would be returned to the author for revision. Upon re-submission, the paper should confirm the following standards: 1) Similarity Index less than 10% and 2) No part of the paper shall have more than 40 consecutive words cited entirely from a single source. If the re-submission does not confirm with the above standards, it would be rejected.
4. The received papers are checked for confirmation with Artha-Vikas Template. Submissions that are not according to the prescribed format are returned to the author for revision according to the format.
5. If found suitable the papers are sent to a reviewer who is generally from the area of specialization on which the paper is based.
6. Artha-Vikas employs double blind review system where both the reviewers as well as the authors remain anonymous to each other.
7. The reviewer may accept, reject or suggest a minor/major revision in the manuscript with regard to its style of presentation and/or content.
8. Suggestions and comments from the reviewer are shared with the authors. Authors are given a specific time limit within which they may make the suggested changes and resubmit the paper.
9. The revised paper is again sent to the same reviewer to ensure that the comments are incorporated to his/her satisfaction.
10. After final recommendation of acceptance by the reviewer, the paper is published.
